STRATEGY FOR THE GREAT LAKES-ST. LAWRENCE RIVER MARITIME TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM

The Strategy for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River Maritime transportation

On June 15, 2016 the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Governors and Premiers released the first-ever regional strategy to jump start the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence maritime transportation system. The strategy’s objectives are to double maritime trade, shrink the environmental footprint of the region’s transportation network, and support the region’s industrial core. Once fully implemented, the strategy will help grow the region’s maritime sector, which already contributes more than US$30 billion to the US and Canadian economies and accounts for more than 220,000 jobs.
