

OHIO: EDGE-OF-FIELD MONITORING AND RESEARCH

The Ohio Department of Agriculture (ODA) continues to support edge-of-field monitoring efforts and research coming out of the Ohio State University and USDA's Agricultural Research Service (ARS) and Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS).

Edge-of-field monitoring helps researchers assess trends in phosphorus loss from fields and identify which best management practices (BMPs) are most effective in various conditions.

TYPE

Investment

ISSUE

ErieStat
